A member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs

Dear Ladies,

In these uncertain times, our organization is more important than ever! Good day, Z Club members. I am Vickie Burrier, the new President of the GFWC Zwaanendael Women's Club, and along with our newly elected officers, I welcome you to the 2020-2022 fiscal years of our club. Certainly, we will have a myriad of challenges in the weeks and months ahead, but as you have already shown, we are women who get things done. Our new reality may include virtual club and committee meetings, social distancing meetings in the park, or any number of creative ways to get our important philanthropic tasks accomplished.

Our new board and club members have a tough act to follow, as evidenced by the many GFWC Delaware State Federation of Women's Club awards that were presented to Z Club on June 2.

We are so grateful to our President Terry Yates, Officers and Committee Chairs for their talented work and award winning reports. We have much to celebrate. Thank you to every one of you who had a part in such a successful club year. It would be impossible to calculate just how many people's lives our work has positively impacted by the club's many projects.

In the coming weeks, we will communicate with you via email. Please take the time to read our letters and step up if you can when we need your help. We will be considering nominations for our new Community Improvement Project that will be in place for the next two years. Please share your ideas with Vice President Lynn Barberi (dr.lynnbarberi@gmail.com) and I will share them with the board.

In the meantime, stay safe and keep your eyes open for that silver lining.

Vickie

Celebration!

June 2, 2020

Traditionally, the Delaware State General Federation of Women's Clubs' May convention is the time when our state clubs are recognized and awards are announced.

This year, in lieu of this event, and in the style of the "Publisher's Clearing House Prize Patrol," the DSFWC officers met Z Club members in the parking lot of Cape Henlopen High School. Susan Carla Pyle, State President, welcomed us warmly and explained that in difficult times, there is often a silver lining that may not be evident until time has passed. She and her team led 30 of us in singing and dancing (six feet apart) to Kool and the Gang's "Celebration," and it was fabulous!

Congratulations to Us!

Thank You Terry!

Incoming president Vickie Burrier presented outgoing president Terry Yates with a selection of gift cards to many of her favorite places to shop, to dine, and to be pampered. She was overwhelmed with the generosity of her fellow club members. Vickie thanked the members for their kindness in recognizing the important work Terry has done over the past two years.

Terry thanked everyone for her gifts and shared that she can't wait to get back to shopping at Marshall's.

Amelia Jenks Bloomer

(1818-1894)

Amelia Jenks Bloomer was an early suffragist, editor, and social activist. Bloomer was also a fashion advocate who worked to change women's clothing styles.

Bloomer was born in Homer, New York. With only a few years of formal education, she started working as a teacher for youth in her community. She married David Bloomer in 1840, and they moved to Seneca Falls, New York where she quickly became involved in social and political activities. She joined a church and volunteered with the local temperance society. Her husband noticed Amelia's enthusiasm for social issues and encouraged her to use writing as an outlet for her ideas. She soon started a newspaper column which covered a variety of issues.

In 1848, Bloomer went to the Seneca Falls Women's Rights Convention where she met Elizabeth Cady Stanton. A year later she created The Lily, a newspaper solely dedicated to women. At first, the newspaper only addressed the temperance movement, but due to high interest the bi-weekly paper expanded its coverage of other news. Bloomer started publishing articles about the women's rights movement. Her newspaper office soon served as makeshift headquarters for the Seneca Falls women's rights movement.

Perhaps Bloomer's most influential work was in dress reform. After noticing the health hazards, discomfort, and restrictive movement associated with dress styles of the day, Bloomer pushed for a new style of dress now called Bloomers. The pantaloons (Bloomers) illustrated a departure from the accepted dress for women and came to represent activists in the women's rights movement. The clothing also attracted much ridicule from conservative men and women.

In 1851, Bloomer introduced Elizabeth Cady Stanton to Susan B. Anthony. That started a long-standing partnership between the two activists. In 1853, Bloomer and her husband moved West. She would often stop in small towns along the way to conduct lectures on temperance. In 1854, the couple settled in Council Bluffs, Iowa where she encouraged women to become property owners. During the Civil War, Bloomer started the Soldier's Aid Society of Council Bluffs to help Union soldiers.

Until her death in 1894 at the age of 76, Bloomer continued to preach on temperance and women's rights issues. She never abandoned her commitment to the movement's agenda.

Books for Kids in Cape Henlopen School District
<https://www.browseaboutbooks.com/keep-cape-reading>

Purchase a book for distribution to Cape students with their free lunch to promote literacy at this challenging time.

As you know, with schools and libraries closed, many kids have lost the best - if not the only - access they had to books. It's more important than ever that they stay reading and engaged. The Cape School District gives out 1,500 free lunches a day to their students and this is a great way to promote literacy in this challenging time.

So, with the community's help, we will be distributing books to Cape students at meal distribution sites on a rotating schedule. Members of the community can visit the above page on the Browseabout website to purchase books for the cause. Each week, books will be packed into bags with academic choice boards from the District, and electronic resource information from the library. They will then be distributed to students when their families come to pick up meals.

We appreciate you all for the support you have given the Lewes Library in the past, and we look forward to seeing you in person at the library, or elsewhere, on the other side of this thing.

GFWC DELAWARE STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS SPECIAL MINUTES

Officers and executives of the GFWC DSFWC 2018-2020 administration carried out a "Celebration Caravan" to deliver appreciation and awards to all of the clubs in the Delaware State Federation. This was done because of the cancellation of the 123rd Delaware Convention due to the quarantine ordered to slow the spread of the Coronavirus. The visits took place in New Castle County on May 30, 2020, Kent County on June 1, 2020, and Sussex County on June 2, 2020.

President Carla Pyle (2018-2020) and President Rita Hollada (2020-2022) were joined on the three-day tour by Dean of Programs, Jan Conant, Corresponding Secretary, Elayne Cannarozzi, and New Castle County Vice President, Anne Groo. Kent County Vice President, Beverly Turner and Sussex County Vice President, Betty Truitt joined the group in their respective counties. Following protocols issued by Governor John Carney due to the Coronavirus pandemic, all gatherings were outside and observed social distancing. Officers traveled in separate personal vehicles and all participants wore face masks.

At each location, President Pyle expressed appreciation for all that the members had accomplished in her two-year term. She presented a yellow rose to the club President as a sign of friendship and as a reminder of the 100th anniversary of the passage of the 19th amendment giving women the right to vote. She offered congratulations to the assembled members for the citations and awards that they had won.

Dean of Programs Jan Conant then read the awards won by the individual club. When appropriate, she presented a check to the club President for prize money. She then gave the President an envelope with the list of awards, the award certificates and the judging scoresheets.

Incoming President Rita Hollada added her thanks and congratulations and spoke about the theme of her administration "Looking Forward With 20/20 Vision." She commented that the Covid-19 pandemic has actually moved her theme forward. It has forced GFWC Delaware to look at new ways of doing things, many of them internet based. She urged clubs to be creative and to look for new project ideas using technology and especially cooperative projects involving two or more clubs that can make a difference in our world. She closed the celebration by the reading of the Collect for Club Women.

The caravan traveled a total of 533 miles during the three days and interacted with 142 Delaware clubwomen.
